

Marcelle Campos

The young transatlantic finding strength in communication.

Marcelle was among the youngest participants in the MBA programme. However, this fact never scared her. Having moved all the way from Rio de Janeiro to Paris to complete her studies, Marcelle is used to adapt to new environments and processes. Marcelle has a double degree from Universidade Federal do Rio de Janeiro, in Electronics and Computation Engineering, and from the École Centrale de Paris, in General Engineering, which means she has lived for two years in Paris, a city she recommends to anyone who asks.

With her path she could firmly tie her vast technical and general engineering backgrounds, but Marcelle has also an artistic side. And it is the merge of both interests in her approach to life and work that makes her a creative and resourceful young woman. Ambitious, Marcelle aims to continuously grow professionally. Before joining The Magellan MBA she was at Procter and Gamble, where she worked with global brands such as Pantene or Head&Shoulders. The possibility of acquiring more responsibilities drives her, always trying to do a better job and really owning her projects and brands.
