

Susana Costa

Yes, we can!

Susana is a can-do type of person. If it is possible, she will do it and no obstacle will stop her. This positive energy has garnered her the loyalty of every team she was a part of in over ten years of career as a civil engineer.

This may also be due to Susana's social personality. From a young age, she has always chosen environments where sharing experiences and ideas was central, believing that it is through that and bonding with people that you can grow both personally and professionally.

Susana always had a clear picture of what she wants her life and career to be and, so far, she has achieved what she set out to do. This means working in a multinational, for the variety of projects and challenges, but also living in Paris and travelling around Europe to hone her language skills.

She calls herself a family woman, referring her mother as an inspiration and model, especially when it comes to work ethics, determination and independence. In the near future Susana intends to engage new projects and challenges where she can inspire and bring together other people. She uses her natural charisma, values and character to create long and strong relations with her teams based on trust and respect, therefore continuing to expand her network.
